CURSES IN CHINESE TOO MUCH FOR WIFE

Mrs. Sunn Wants Divorce, Objects to Abuse in Tongue She Can't Understand.

It's bad enough for a husband o curse in English, thinks Mrs. Nettie Sunn, but to be abused in Chinese constitutes an intolerable indignity.

Mrs. Sunn, a white weman, told her views on the subject to Judge Hartmann in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday in her suit to divorce George W. Sunn, a Chinese cook. They were married at Lake Village, Ark., Sept. 18, 1908, while Sunn was a prosperous grocery merchant there. She was a widow at the time she married him.

The custody of their four chil-dren and money for their support is sought by Mrs. Sunn. They are: Edgar, 13; Florence, 11; Oscar, 10, Sunn did not appear in court yesterday but has been ordered to tell his side of the case Friday. Her husband's quarrelsome disposition, his curses in two lan-guages induced by a violent temper, and his refusal to support her caused them to separate last Aug. 19, her petition alleges.

"Do you understand any Chinese dialect?" inquired Judge Hart-"No, sir," Mrs. Sunn replied, "my husband could speak English well; it was only when he was angry that he would drift into Chinese." "Did he speak in his native tongue often?" the Judge asked. "Only when he would curse me." Founder of Baracas Dies, Arthur Guiterman, poet and tic, in addresses here yesterday efore the Junior League and the 8 Sizes-Metal Frame For all windows-55c to $1.10 ouncil of Jewish Women, traced English free verse back to the King Hardware and Dept. Stores He did afford some consolation

o the fundamentalists of literature in the concession that the first vers libre was, in effect, the primitive chant as it limped along before rhyme and meter gave it wings. Something like this, he "The kangaroo ran fast but I ran faster. The kangaroo was fat; I ate him."

Before Jewish Women's

"The translators of the King James version," he related, "tried to reproduce in English the rude cadence of the primitive chant in Hebrew. Such is the first recorded song in history, Lamech's chant n Genesis, running, 'I have slain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt."

Sometimes, he remarked, the cadence rose nearly to the metrical.

the voice of the turtle is heard in land.

Accounting for Whitman.

Of course, the translators for King James had let it run right along, like prose, without trying to make it look more like poetry by chopping it up into lines and beginning each with a capital. That waited for Martin Tupper. Free verse made the grade as verseinto print, at least—in 1838 in Tup-per's "Proverbial Philosophy."

"Whitman," Guiterman declared. found his style in the same source, although, of course, his was a genius that towered over Tupper's. He once told a very good friend of mine that he owed his inspiration to the King James version. "An interesting thing to me is amples of free verse by children. One, which he said Brander Matthews had given him, began like

My dollie My dollie! My dollie! My dollie is dead and I didn't want her to die. It ended like that, too. In between, strangely reminiscent of a barbaric lament, the child had recited that she buried the dollie in the pail under the sink; there was oatmeal where her head ought to be; the ashman would take the dollie away and it would down the river with no head, no legs and no arms.

More Posibilities. Another began, "I wonder why the cooks all leave" (and ended the same way, introducing a re-cital starting off "First Mary—" strangely reminiscent of genealog-ical chapters of the Bible.

Then there was a rhymed couplet by a boy of 3, surely, at that age, still in the primitive stage: He was never bad: he was always spood. He didn't wriggle, he only stood. "Generally we think of the humorist as a funny man," Guiterman said. "He ought to be funny-occasionally. His chief function is to be human. Humor, wit and satire differ in the spiritual attitude of the men responsible for them. A satirist hates the object of his satire; a wit despises or depreciates, while a humorist loves the object of his humor. The humist knows that when he is ing at others he is laughing at himself. Puck was a wit when he said. What fools these mortals be.'
If he had been a humorist he would have said, 'What fools we mortals be.'"

Redman, after Gould won the election, brought the bribery case to the attention of Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montans, who forced an investigation.

It has been the contention of Gould's friends in Maine that Redman was forcing the issue even after his defeat in a desperate hope of unseating Gould and obtaining the place for himself. The campaign in which Redman was defeated was a curious one. Gould, a man of widespread popularity in Aroostook County where he had worked and lived for 46 years, had appeared suddenly Until then no one had considered

The explanation by Gould's enemies has been that a vast sum of money-vast for the number of voters involved—was spent in Gould's name during the primary. Gould denied it, saying that if more than the $1500 limit set by law was apent it was by friends "withou my knowledge or consent."

Gould's Explanation.

The same phrase he used to describe how the $100,000 was paid to Flemming in 1911, which the New Brunswick records term as "bribery" by Gould himself.

Redman reached the election campaign without a primary contest. He and Gould then settled down to fight it out for the post left vacant by the death of Sena for Fernald.

In the town of Poulton, in Ariso-stock County, where Gould is generally known, a handful of Demo-erals decided to trace back the vague story they had fleard of some irregularity in Gould's affairs when he tried to build a railroad across the line in New Brunswick and got one of the few trimmings of his

St. Louis Passengers on Pennsylvania and B. & O. Are

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch NEW YORK, Dec. 14. - Passengers on three fast trains of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio railroads were shaken and many were injured shortly after 5 p. m. yesterday in two railroad accidents in New Jersey. Most the injuries were slight. At Howell's Crossing, two miles west of New Brunswick, Pennsylvania train No. 26, the Commercial Express, from St. Louis to New York, crashed into the rear of the Atlantic City Express, also New York bound about 5:15 o'clock. Both trains were running slowly through what railroad men de-scribed as "the worst fog in 30 years." Each was behind sched-

At Hopewell Junction, a dozen miles northwest of Trenton, Balti-more and Ohio train No. 2, the National Limited from St. Louis to Jersey City, ran past a derailing switch. Five of the last six cars of the nine-car train left the tracks, but remained upright.

The ninth car, was the private car of R. B. White, senior vice president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. White was in the but was not injured. Signals Read by Lanterns.

So dense was the fog, which was contributing factor in both wrecks, that the conductor of the Washington express, the first Pennsylvania main line train to reach the Pennsylvania Railroad station here after the rear end collision said the engineer frequently had been forced to stop and send the fireman ahead with a lantern so block signals could be discerned.

Passengers on both the Commercial Express and the Atlantic City Express were hurled to the floors when the locomotive of the St. Louis train crashed into the rear of the Atlantic City train. Windows in the vestibules of both trains were shattered and many passengers were cut by flying glass.

As soon as news of the wreck reached New Brunswick a truckload of medical supplies and several ambulances with physicians and nurses from the Middlesex deneral and St. Peter's Hospitals vere rushed to the scene.

Two passengers were taken to the inmetz, 65, of 3325A Indiana ommercial Express and suffered cerations of the hips and shock. on the Atlantic City train, who was severely cut

John Finn, 10, New York, was cut by flying slivers of glass and was further injured when baggage fell on him from the rack above

Neither Pennsylvania train was derailed but both were annulled and the passengers were transferred to the Washington Express, which reached Pennsylvania Station at 9:07 p. m. The Atlantic City train was due in New York at 5:40 o'clock, 10 minutes before the ommercial Express.

Passed Two Signals. Officials of the Reading lines, over whose tracks the Baltim and Ohio operates, in New Jersey said that Engineer George Rule of the National Limited passed two signals set against him before his train ran into a derailing switch at Hopewell Junction about 5:0-

Mrs. Frank Margre of Newurk was hurled from her Pu lman chair with such force when five cars left the rails that she suffered a frac-tured leg. Mrs. Harry H. Machlin of Columbus, O., suffered bruises and shock. A Pullman porter, Isaih Herron of St. Louis, and two dining car waiters, Henry C. Harris of New York, and Edward Lorrence of Washington, all negroes. were treated for cuts and bruises. Among those injured in the Pennsylvania accident, but who refused to go to a hospital, were:

Engineer Rule of the Baltimore and Ohio train has been in the service of the Reading for 30 ears. Officials of the road said the fog probably had obscured the signals. The train was going about 20 miles an hour when it struck the derailing switch.

BANK OF THE HOLY GHOST IN ROME A MODERN INSTITUTION

The Banco di Santo Spirito, or the Bank of the Holy Ghost, located in Rome. has been changed into a modern institution after surviving more than three centuries of political and financial history. Created by Papal Bull in 1606, it has just recently been authorized to transact all kinds of banking operations, with a capital of fifteen million lire.

with a capital of lifteen million lire.

Originally this bank made its profits by making charges for its services in keeping funds for its patrons. The profits thus derived were turned over to the Pio Institute di Santo Spirito, the oldest and most important philanthropical institution in Rome.

Due to the antiquated regulations under which the bank was operated, competition with modern institution was found to be impossible, so that about 50 years ago it ceased to do a general banking business. With its reorganization, however, it is equipped to handle all sorts of banking transactions. ****************

ESTABLISHING the right banking connection is an important step in the beginning of every new business. A helpful bank is a "silent partner" giving valuable co-operation in service and counsel.

Is Christmas a pleasureor a problem?

WHAT should be the most joyous and carefree season of the year is marred for many people by financial problems—the lack of a little extra money that is always needed at holiday time for gifts and other expenses.

Christmas Club members are not hampered by money worries. Just before the holidays they receive a check for a substantial amount of extra cash—enough for generous giving and for the special needs that Christmas brings.

ROOSEVELT'S SISTER HECKLES CREEL

Asks Former Publicity Man Why Wilson Didn't Lead U. S. Into War Sooner.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A sister the late President Roosevelt and the head of Woodrow Wilson's wartime Committee on Public In-formation, have clashed publicly over the war President's ideals and

In the midst of hundreds of Wilson admirers, Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson questioned George Creel yesterday after speech explaining his view of Wilsoh's personality.

Creel said that Wilson's vision oresaw "a tragedy of disappointment coming" even before the peace conference, due to the lapse in idealism that followed the armis-"It is well for great souls such as these if, like Lincoln, they can die at the moment of their greatest chievement," he said. "There is more cruel and inhuman than a people's reaction from its own idealism."

Mrs. Robinson Asks Question. Questions were invited. Mrs. Robinson arose and in a voice that carried to every corner of the hall.

"If Mr. Wilson had so much vision as you say he had, why did he not enter the war sooner and save thousands of lives?" Some applause greeted the question, but it was drowned out in the buzp of excitement. Creel ans "He did not enter the war sooner because, for one thing, New York and the Atlantic seaboard are not America. It would have been impossible to commit the American people to war any earlier."

Mrs. Robinson shook her head and exclaimed: "You didn't answer my question."

"But," explained Creel, "the President can't declare war. Do you know, madame, that Congress has the sole power to declare war? My answer is that Congress would not have declared war in 1915 or 1916; the antiwar and the pro-German sentiment was too strong." Calls Creel Evasive.

Mrs. Robinson was unsatisfied. "You are evading, not answering this question," she said. "The President has the power of leader-ship. It is said that he kept us out of war. I want to know why he didn't lead us in sooner."

Robert Erskine Ely, presiding, waved his hand and announced that the question had been an swered. When other questioners arose with other topics, Mrs. Robin-son left the hall.

The meeting was under the auspices of the League for Political Education on President Wilson's career. The meeting marked the first showing of a six-reel motion picture showing the career of Wilson from the New Jersey governorship to the grave. It was presented by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, and it is planned to send it to all parts of the country for showing without private profit.

G. O. P. Leaders Agree It Would Be Futile for Illinoisan to Seek McKinley's Place.

Post-Dispatch Bureau. 20-23 Wyatt Building WASHINGTON. Dec. 14.—Congressional leaders, who attended the funeral of Senator McKinley of Illinois, have brought back the news that Frank L. Smith, Senator-elect, has decided and declared that he shall be appointed by Gov. Len Small to fill out McKinley's term. These leaders added that if Smith persists, Small will have to appoint him. One Illinois Congressman who tried to heason man who tried to hear with him said yesterday "nothing but a tornado can stop him now."

This news has shaken the ad-ministration Senators, who though they had convinced Allen F. Moore, Smith's campaign manager, that it would be suicidal for Smith to attempt to be seated in the present session of the Senate.
Their only hope now is that they will be able to bring sufficient pressure to bear on Small to block the appointment. They are hugsaid yesterday that if Smith pre-sents a certificate of appointmen to the Senate now he will not be allowed to take his seat. One administration Senator went so far as to say that he would not be allowed to take the oath of office. Change of Front by Leaders.

With the charges still pending against Senator Gould of Maine, there has been a change of front by the administration leaders. An informal caucus of Republican leaders at the Burning Tree Golf Club, Sunday, decided it would be impossible to seat Smith in the impossible to seat Smith i present Congress. Pressure has heen brought to bear upon him and Small, some of the pressure coming direct from the White House, and if Smith has decided to take the risk in the face of contrary advice from those who know the sentiment of the Senate, he must take his punishment, one Senator declared. "The hardboiled and the softboiled declared that if Smith tried to get in this session, he wouldn't have a Chinaman's chance," he added.

"As she stepped from the eleva-tor, I told her I was her brother's child," Mrs. Cockburn said. "I asked her if she had any pictures not. She said she had no time to talk to me, but asked me to write her a letter and made me sit down with her."

Mrs. Cockburn said she had lived in San Gabriel five years and be-fore that in Tucson, Ariz., and New Mexico. Her husband, she said, was a boilermaker for the Southern Pacific Railway when she mar-

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT.

GOV. FRANK O. LOWDEN in World's Work.

ONE of the anomalies in our Government at present is the large number of public agencies outside of any department of Government. There are more than 40 of these, we are told. That the principle of concentrating the activities of Government into appropriate departments is sound I think no one will deny. It is the principle upon which all large organizations of business are based. It is the only method known by which intelligent supervision can be maintained. And supervision is one of the chief duties of the chief executive of the nation. The President of the United States can exercise adequate supervision only where every executive duty resting upon him comes first under the observation of some Cabinet officer.

It follows that all activities outside of one or another of the departments largely go their own way, a law unto themselves. The most glaring example of this is where a board or commission is set up to perform administrative duties. It tends to become a little government by itself, an imperium in imperio. It is likely to ignore its relaions to other branches of the executive department. It is responsible to no one in executive authority and frequently is an excrescence upon Government.

There are several reasons for this modern practice. Doubtless boards or commissions are sometimes created to give lucrative places to statesmen out of jobs. More though. I think, it is due to other causes. Congress may desire to remove the particular activities from partisan control. Or the work to be done is of a technical nature and the department of Government to which the new function would naturally assigned is not adequately organized with high permanent officials capable of supervising the work. If now we had in nent under-secretary who was a recognized authority upon the subjects administered in his department, who did not come and go with changing administrations, but whose tenure of office was as permanent as any commission would be, the case would be The reluctance which Congress now feels toward allocating the new activits appropriate department would largely disappear.

N education, as elsewhere, the still, small voice wins at last over the whirlwind, the earthquake and the fire. Johns Hopkins University is receiving more praises and more bequests than ever before, not from beating a tomtom, but in consequence of having fearlessly cast off the tinseled trappings of what is popularly called "college life," and having girded itself for devotion fundamentals.

"At Johns Hopkins," observes a Western newspaper man, who is free from any local or traditional prejudice in its favor, "there is no great concrete stadium; its gladiators fight in laboratories filled with deadly germs and the curious paraphernalia of science, or battle in classrooms with ideas. These laboratories and classrooms are the stadia which have produced truth in the past and which bear promise for the future. It is only truth that can unbind the Prometheus of the earth; and the search of truth, pure and unalloyed, in the United States is an almost unheard-of thing. But a little leaven leavens the lump.

The children, of course, ask mostly for toys-for themselves and their brothers and sisters-but even these, in some in stances, feel so keenly the pinch of poverty, when they should be happy and care-free, that they ask or clothing to keep thm warm and ood to drive hunger away. Some of the Letters Here are extracts from a few of e letters, picked at random from he piles that come in the morning

My mother has been a widow for 8 years and it is hard for her to make a living for Buddy and I am not big enough to work. I am only 11 and Buddy is 9. My father left us when my brother was a year old and we have never seen or heard of him since. Buddy just got out of bed, he was sick. Mamma has heart trouble and sometimes faints while coming home, so if you would help us, it would not be so hard for her. Buddy needs an overcoat to wear to school, and I need a dress and so does mother. I am writing this for our sakes, if you will be so kind to help us:

I am a mother who is ill. I have eight children, the oldest a cripple and the next oldest girl deaf and dumb. I just got out of the hospital. I don't care for myself, but God knows how I hate to see Christmas morning come and my little darlings get up without anything. They need lothing to keep their little bodies warm. I hope God will touch meone's heart and cause someone to think of me and my little ones on Christmas morning. Clothing for them and a blanket to keep them warm while they sleep is all I wish. EIGHT MILLION MOTORISTS—40% of all in the United States—used Pyro last winter.

Why Be Satisfied With a 5-Tube Set When You Can

Pyro is as good for a Ford as for a Rolls-Royce. It never clogs cooling systems, eats out metal parts, nor rots hose connections.

You can't buy equal safety cheaper—you can't buy greater safety at any price. The Pyro Proportion Chart shows how much Pyro is needed to give you complete protection at any temperature. Ask the garage man for your copy.

Stop tonight at any garage or filling station. Ask for Pyro and see that it comes from the blue-labeled Pyro drum. Take home a gallon can of Pyro. After the right mixture is put in your car at the garage you need only add a little more Pyro and water from time to time to take care of natural evaporation. Not Too Distant Probability for the Home, General Electric Expert Says.

Some day there may be added to the loud speaker and the loop aerial and the radio console in the home a new contraption Then when some diva of grand opera steps before the microphone in New York, she will simultaneously step upon a screen in the living room and the family circle will see as well as hear her sing. Or when Cardinals vs. Yankees jam Sportsman's Park, the forcedat-homes can tune out their troubles and tune in a motion picture of the diamond to the accompani-

Some day! Dr. Ernest F. W. Alexanderson, consulting radio engineer for the General Electric Co., is not yet ready to name the day. but he is ready to say that there s every reason to believe that the day will arrive. In fact, he has set up in the General Electric laboratories at Schenectady a projector which he believes will ultimately result in realization of television.

Television is the art of seeing moving objects by radio. The ransmission of pictures by radiogood pictures—across the ocean is of the transmission of moving picures. Of this Dr. Alexanderson says, after years upon years of peering around for the answer, that "our work already has proved that "our work already has proved the expectation of television not unreasonable and it may be accomplished with means in our posses-

Sent Photos Across Atlantic.

Dr. Alexanderson is in St. Louis tion of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers tomorrow night his first public detailed description of his progress toward television. He will show pictures of results so far accomplished, including motion pictures of the projector he has created by which he hopes-some day!-to bring television to reality.

The fact that New York can ommunicate with China by radio due largely to Dr. Alexanderson. The fact that photographs can be sent across the Atlantic ocean in 20 minutes is due to him. He is enerator by which radio transossible. In his name at Washington stand some 100 patents applied to radio and its perfection For 22 years radio and its ramifications have been his daily consideration. He is chief engineer for the Radio Corporation of Amer-ica. Outside of radio he is distinguished as the inventor of the

be developed to justify an effort to establish television-make it practical. In other words, there would be no use for television if the pic-ture seen were imperfect or dis-

"We have accomplished in two minutes a radio picture that has minutes a radio picture that has the desired quality and hence gives us the go-ahead signal," Dr. Alexanderson said.

But instead of pictures every two minutes, motion picture demands
16 pictures every second and Dr.
Alexanderson's next problem became a mechanical device canable Alexanderson's next problem be-came a mechanical device capable of that speed. He has achieved this requisite in his new projector and in making it he can accom-plish speed by the use of seven beams of light instead of one beam employed in usual radio transmission of pictures. Each of the seven beams paints upon the screen its own separate picture, each vague and distorted, but which, blended, produce the likeness of desired quality. By his projector, Dr. Alexanderson has accomplished a 170line radio screen, Which means 170 brush strokes of light every second. First, there is, then, a picture of the desired quality and next a mechanical means of projecting pic-tures with the necessary speed. There remains the sending of the picture through the air, and this, happily, already is established. What Remains to Be Done.

"Now there remains only the coordination of these three funda-mental necessities for television," Dr. Alexanderson said, "that the projector will produce the picture of desired quality at the rate of 16 second and that the 16-a-second of desired quality at the rate of 16 a second and that the 16-a-second a second and that the second through the air. Of course, I cannot foresee when or how this co-ordina-tion will be accomplished. Sufficient now to say that I fully be-lieve that there will be a solution. The principles of radio were established 50 years ago, yet it was only in this modern day that radio was brought to its perfection. The principles of television were established a few years ago by our sud-den, illuminating discovery of the unsuspected qualities of the short wave length rests all hope for television.
"It is easy enough to design a television system now with something like 40,000 picture units or breash atrokes a second, but the

EAST ST. LOUIS CITY COUNCIL AGAINST GASOLINE TAX PLAN

Resolution Says State's $100,000,-000 Bond Issue Was to Cover Costs of Hard Roads.

The East St. Louis City Council esterday passed a resolution op-osing the proposed Illinois gasoine tax, sponsored by Gov. In a letter to the county boards lov. Small and Chief Highway Enrineer Sheets recently pointed out hat all bonds of the $100,000.000 saue will be sold by the close of miles of the road system unfinished. The construction program after 1929 will be limited to about 200 miles a year and it will take until 1943 to finish the 9800-mile system unless a tax of 2 cents a gallon is adopted, Gov. urance in Missouri, following approval of the workmen's compensation act by the people, were disber of Commerce, at luncheon at and the Holy Land, across the chamber today.

A motion was adopted for apdent-secretary of the C. O. Smith Plumbing Co. to prepare data on the subject and argue in behalf of St. Louis industry at a hearing here next wekt before State Insurance Commissioner Hyde. The com missioner is empowered to order a change of rates, subject to review in court. It was decided not to adopt a protest against the changes for the time being. Instances of increased rates for ertain industries here were cited at the meeting. In a statement this morning, General Secretary Findly of the chamber said some of the rates to be offered after the law becomes effective on Jan. 9 are far in excess of the old ones and above those of other states. This a matter of vital importance to industrial St. Louis, he added.

Industry only wants official assurance that rates proposed prior approval of the act would be established, Findly declared, with the suggestion that all employers here investigate rates proposed fo them and, if these are out of line, protest to Insurance Commissione Hyde by Thursday.

Insurance companies have just fied the increases proposed for some industries on the ground that additional benefits are provided under the new law, which must b met by insurance, and they say they have to make allowance for experience to guide them in deternining the cost of this business inder the new provisions.

H. R. Northrup, manager of the cal liability rating bureau, who was invited to the meeting, said that retroactive credits on rates would be allowed to those individal industries employing adequate safeguards against hazards. An inspection of these factors is under way now. General average of rates proposed for Missouri under provi sions of the law is 7.6 per cent lower than rates under the former system where employers took maxirum coverage as to liability and nedical ald, he declared.

It had been agreed that five representatives from each student council would confer.

The Harvard Council now has decided not to name delegates because the basis of a possible agreement was unacceptable.

This basis included the stipulation that the peace more appear to be institated by Harvard, and an agreement that Harvard alternate the final football game of the year between Tale and Princeton.

This was decided on yesterday by Newton K. Bugbe, fistic commissioner of New Jersey, and backed up by Platt Adams, his chief inspector.

Rosenberg was suspended for life by the Illinois board for having walked out on a match with Buddy Taylor in Chicago. Rosenberg boxed in a New Jersey ring a few weeks ago. At that time no objection was made to his appearing.

TILDEN LIKELY TO RANK NO. 1 ON AMERICAN LIST

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 14 .- "Big Bill" Tilden, although he lost his national singles title to Rene Lacoste of France this year, appears slated to rank No. 1 on the American list for the seventh straight year. Any doubt on this score will be removed if the U. S. L. T. A. follows the de-cision of its Executive Committee not to rank Vincent Richards because he turned "pro."
Richards was the last surviving American in the national singles tournament and might have merited

No. 1 on that account, as well as the fact that he beat Tilden three times in four matches. HOPPE GROOMING SELF TO SPRING COME-BACK

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Maxie Rosenbloom was awarded the decision over K. O. Phil Kaplan at the end of 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden last night.

Maxie the tormentor was at his weifdest, wildest in every respect. He swarmed all over Kaplan and as a result they got hurt much easier. It is remarkable how some injuries happen. One day there was a photographer on the field. Unwittingly he put his camera case on the ground very near the side lines. One of the players was practicing forward passing on that side of the field, and without knowing the camera was anywhere near him, he stepped back—slipped over the case and sprained his ankle.

R. Schneder's Candidacy Has Bearing on House Speakership.

Entrance of Representative William R. Schneider of St. Louis yesterday into the contest for Republican floor leader of the House of Representatives in the Missouri Legislature, is expected to have an important bearing on the speakership fight and the organization of the House. The Legislature convenes Jan. 5. Schneider's candidacy is in a way linked with that of Edward H. Winter of Warrenton for speaker, while that of his principal opponent, Oliver J. Page of Spring-field is tied in with that of Jones H. Parker of St. Louis. Winter and Parker have been canvassing Republican legislators over the State for several weeks in an effort to line up a majority of the Republican members. Each has professed to have pledges to give im more than the required 40

Page has arranged a meeting of Republican members of the House from southwestern counties for Thursday in Springfield, and an effort will be made there to line up votes for Parker for speaker and for Page for floor leader.

Parker, who had expected to have the support of the entire St. Louis delegation of 19, will have not more than two-thirds of the delegation, according to present in-dications, and it is said he will not be able to control the votes of the members from St. Louis County.

In addition to Schneider and Page, Representatives Heege of St. Louis County and Freeland of Taney County are seeking the House leadership, and it is to be expected that deals with their supporters will have an influence on, if not decide, the contest

WITH SAGE AND FIXINGS.

VEN in these cynical days, nothing has the power to thrill us like a good old-fashioned home-cooked Christmas dinner, a good old-fashioned love-story, and a good old-fashioned marriage with-'all the trimmings!

You will never be old, so long as this magic season makes bells tinkle in your pulse, stars twinkle in your eyes, and all life look like a Christmas tree full of glittering possibilities.

A man never gets the full joy out of a love-affair-because the moment he fancies he has a girl "just where he wants her" he begins to wonder if he wants here there.

It is no feat, these days, to make a man want to kiss you; but, the only sure way to make him KEEP ON wanting to kiss you, is never to LET him! And, that's where the feat comes in!

When a man is looking for amusement he wants a girl who likes to go out and be entertained; but when he is looking for a wife, he wants one who can safely be left at home and forgotten, during business hours, golf games and poker parties.

Nothing so shocks and annovs a man as to discover that a woman is actually being consistent!

Love no longer makes a man blind; but it still somewhat dazzles him so that he can see himself supporting a limousine-and-sables wife on a flivver-and-near-fur income.

Probably nobody will ever know what Solomon suffered on blue Monday mornings, when all 700 of his wives woke up with a martyr-

Alas, where is the "sweet old fashioned girl," whose hair hung way down-almost to her ear-rings?

In a moment he pulled his head out, shook it, and blew the snow out of his nose. He looked disappointed. But he didn't waste any time. He ran forward a few steps and jumped again just as before. Of course the higher he jumped the harder he would come down, so he seemed to be jumping as high as he could.
